Women's History Month

☞A Merry Month of March☞

March not only brings the beginning of spring and the celebration of St. Patrick's Day but also the recognition of the accomplishments of women in all areas of our society to include women in the work force and our fellow female Veterans. This year's I hope we all take a few moments to read about, learn and appreciate all the women who came before us who paved the road for our ability to achieve our successes. .

As individuals, we thrive, but we've learned the hard way that none of us are as strong as all of us.

WMA and be a part of a proud community of Marines and FMF sailors. We are united by our past, we are working together to honor the women who served before us and empower those who will follow.

Membership is open to women who serve or have served honorably in the U.S. Marine Corps or the U.S. Marine Corps Reserve and FMF qualified.

Help WMA spread the word.

Rosa Osborn

WMA Life Member

2022 Julia Hamblet Awardee

Julia E. Hamblet Award goes to our own, Rosa Osborn, for her extraordinary efforts in the preservation of the history of women's Marine uniforms along with the history of those who wore them. She also has the distinction of being the first recipient who served as a "Warrant Officer" that reflects the historical legacy of Lotus Mort, one of the first female Warrant Officers in the Marine Corps, whose Memorial Fund supports this award.

This award is sponsored by the Marine Corps Heritage Foundation (MCHF) and the Women Marines Association (WMA) and will be presented to Rosa at the Annual MCHF Awards Dinner to be held on April 30, 2022 at the National Museum of the Marine Corps (NMMC). I hope that you will join me in congratulating Rosa for her outstanding efforts and for her continued support to WMA and our priority mission of preserving and promoting the history of women in the Marine Corps since 1918.
